100 FROM HERE IN PARADE OF KNIGHTS

Rushville Commandery Well Represented at Annual State Conclave Opening in Indianapolis

SHOWING FOR W. M. SPARKS

Local Man Will Become Vice Commander This Week and Following Year Will be Commander

By United Press

Indianapolis Ind. May 12—Down town streets of Indianapolis were gaily decked today for the annual parade of the state commandery of the Knights Templar of Indiana.

Two thousand plumed knights were expected to participate in the colorful event with William H. Kershner, adjutant general of the Indiana national guard, as grand marshal.

Prizes will be awarded to the three best teams in competitive drills following the parade.

The state conclave will be in session until Thursday.

Approximately one hundred members of Rushville commandery went to Indianapolis today to attend the annual state conclave of the Knights Templar and to participate in the parade which was scheduled to move at 1:30 o'clock.

The Rushville commandery was especially anxious to make a good showing on account of the commandery being represented among the grand officers by Will M. Sparks, who will be advanced to the office of vice grand commander at the conclave this week. Next year he will become grand commander.

The local commandery has twice won the attendance cup for the largest percent of membership present in uniform at the parade, and there was believed to be some chance of the cup being brought to Rushville this year.

The conclave began with banquets held in Indianapolis Monday evening. Judge Sparks attended a banquet of grand officers, at which a number of middle west states were represented by Knights Templar grand officers. A banquet was also held Monday evening for past grand commanders.

Many Rushville Knights were accompanied by their wives, for whom special social functions have been arranged during the week. Wives of grand officers and past grand commanders were entertained with a dinner at the Propylaeum in Indianapolis Monday evening and Mrs. Demarchus Brown spoke following the dinner. Wives and lady friends of Knights were entertained today at the Sevier hotel and Knights in uniform were guests at the luncheon at the Scottish Rite temple. There will be a dance and reception at the Murat temple this evening.

COMPANY DENIES IT HAS STEPHENSON'S PROPERTY

Maryland Concern Files Answer to Affidavit by Former Wife Seeking to Tie up Assets

DAMAGE SUIT TRIAL DELAYED

Indianapolis, Ind., May 12—Denial that the Fidelity and Deposit Company of Maryland has any property of D. C. Stephenson in its possession, was made in an answer filed in Superior court today by the Maryland company.

The denial was in answer to an affidavit filed against the company by Mrs. Nettie Stephenson Brehm, former wife of Stephenson. She was seeking to tie up Stephenson's assets pending settlement of a suit for support money for their child.

The trial of the $125,000 damage suit brought in federal court against H. W. Evans, former imperial wizard of the klan, for the burning of Stephenson's yacht at Toledo, Ohio, last summer, was postponed until May 19. The trial was to have started tomorrow.

Mrs. Brehm, who lives in Porteau, Okla., has brought suit for $17,000 support money for their child and is seeking to prevent Stephenson from disposing of his assets before the case is settled.

DETECTIVES HAVE NO POWER

Members of Organization Can't Arrest Men for Law Violations

Indianapolis, Ind., May 12—Members of the Indiana Horse Thief Detective Association have no authority to make arrests for liquor law violations, according to a ruling of Judge Collins on file in criminal court today.

Collins discharged Philip Borenstein, held on a charge of operating a blind tiger. Borenstein had been arrested by members of the horse thief detective association.

Action of Judge Collins was in keeping with the ruling of Attorney General Gilliom last week that the detectives' power was limited to arrest of horse thieves.

THREE BOYS 16 YEARS OLD HELD FOR THEFT

Youths Wanted in Toledo Are Arrested at Mays When They Arouse Suspicion Trying to Pawn Watch

HAD A STOLEN AUTOMOBILE

Three youths, all giving their ages as 16 and their homes in Toledo, O., are in jail here awaiting the arrival of officers from that city, where they are wanted on charges of stealing an automobile.

The boys gave their names as Thomas Dunbar, Richard Staton and Harley Bode. They were arrested Monday at Mays by Sheriff Hunt, Police Chief Blackburn and Patrolman Smith of this city, who were warned by members of the Horse Thief Detective Association of that community.

The trio drove into Mays Monday afternoon about three o'clock in a Paige roadster. They aroused suspicion when an attempt was made by them to buy gasoline, by wanting to pawn a gold watch. They were unable to give a good account of themselves and Prosecutor Ketchum was called, who in turn sent the officers after them.

A communication from Toledo officers this morning was received in which it stated that they would be taken back to that city for trial, and Sheriff Hunt is detaining them until their arrival.

DIVORCE AFTERMATH OF ALIENATION SUIT

Lulu Catherine Holmes Sues Harley D. Holmes, Who Attempted to Recover Damages From Elbert Buell

CASE IS IN HIGHER COURT

A complaint for divorce was filed this morning in the circuit court by Lulu Catherine Holmes against Harley D. Holmes, in which the plaintiff alleges that they have not lived together since March, 1919, and during their married life he was guilty of cruel treatment.

They were married in January 1908, according to the suit, and have resided in recent years on the Elbert Buell farm in Anderson township. She charges her husband with having a high temper, making false accusations against her character, and possessing a high strung jealous disposition.

She asks the court for a divorce, and also for the custody of their 13-year old son, alleging that the husband is not a fit person to have the custody of the boy.

It will be recalled that last fall a jury in the local court heard an alienation of affection case for several days, in which Mr. Holmes was attempting to recover from Mr. Buell on whose farm they resided, charging that he had caused their separation. The jury failed to return a favorable verdict, and Mr. Holmes has the case now before a higher court in Indiana.

ORANGE MAN OPERATED ON

Omer Mahin of Orange underwent an operation last Saturday at the Memorial Hospital in Connersville, and is improving as well as could be expected.

ILL WITH PNEUMONIA

Orville Porter of Jackson township, is ill with pneumonia, and his condition is regarded as serious.

The same plan was used as in the old hall with raised seats around the room and a stage at the west end, in the center of which is a large red velvet canopy. Flanking the canopy are two large paintings picturing Abraham leading his son Isaac to the mountain top to offer him as a sacrifice in accordance with God's command, which represents the encampment; and Rebekah at the well offering a drink to Eleazar, servant of Abraham, who had been sent back to Abraham's native land to find a wife for Isaac. This represents the Rebekah degree.

At the opposite end of the hall are large panel paintings representing the valley of the Jordan river and the Dead Sea. The paintings are by Louis Mueller of Indianapolis, who did the work at the old Odd Fellows

ROTARY CLUB OBSERVES MOTHERS' DAY MONDAY

The Rev. B. F. Cato Speaks of the Influence of Mother Upon The Home and Lives of Men

STRIKES RESPONSIVE CORD

The Rotary club observed Mothers' Day Monday at the regular weekly club luncheon at the Odd Fellow Temple with an address by the Rev. B. F. Cato, pastor of the Main Street Christian church, who spoke of the influence of mothers upon the home and the lives of men. The weekly luncheon was changed from Tuesday noon on account of so many Rotarians going to the Knights Templar conclave in Indianapolis today.

"Home does not depend upon the size of the house or its furnishings," the minister said. "The foundation may be wood, brick or stone; the floors may be hardwood, pine, stone or beaten sod; the roof may be shingles, slab or slate, and the furnishings may be simple. Manhood has more to do with homes than money, womanhood than wardrobe. I venture to say that most of us came from homes much less pretentious than ours in which we live today."

He pointed out that mother was the soul of the home and that it was not surprising the day had taken like wildfire because, "when we speak of mother, it strikes a responsive chord in 99 out of 100 men."

"There are beautiful things in the world—an orchard in bloom, the sunshine on the hills, a valley of wild flowers, a fading sunset—but the most beautiful thing this side of heaven is a mother and her child."

WILL PRESENT UNITED FRONT

Anthracite Operators to Resist Wage Increase Demands

Atlantic City, N. J., May 12—The anthracite coal operators of the country will present a united front in opposition to any unreasonable demand for "wage increases that may be made at a miners' convention next August," Wallace Cordon, Merritt of New York, the attorney who represented the anthracite operators at hearings before the United States coal commission, said here today.

Merritt was addressing delegates to a national coal dealer meeting.

CURTAIN UP ON NEW LODGE HOME

Odd Fellows Temple Throw Open to Public This Afternoon for Inspection and Program

DEDICATION WEDNESDAY AT 2

Thursday Will be Rebekah Day, with Special Program Being Arranged For The Event

The curtain was run up this afternoon at three o'clock on the new Odd Fellows temple and the building was thrown open for the inspection of the public at a reception held by members of the order, which is a part of the dedicatory program taking place this week.

The formal dedication of the building will take place Wednesday afternoon at two o'clock, in charge of the grand lodge dedicatory staff, and in the evening there will be a class of forty candidates to be given the initiatory degree by the local staff.

Rebekah day will be observed Thursday in connection with the dedication week program, it was announced today, and a special program has been arranged for this occasion.

Negro spiritual singers will give a program in the lodge hall this evening as a part of the program at the reception and the Odd Fellows orchestra of twelve pieces will also play.

The first visitors in the building this afternoon found a modern lodge home, fully equipped with dining room and kitchen, social rooms, paraphealnia rooms and main lodge hall, which has been beautifully decorated and furnished.

The same plan was used as in the old hall with raised seats around the room and a stage at the west end, in the center of which is a large red velvet canopy. Flanking the canopy are two large paintings picturing Abraham leading his son Isaac to the mountain top to offer him as a sacrifice in accordance with God's command, which represents the encampment; and Rebekah at the well offering a drink to Eleazar, servant of Abraham, who had been sent back to Abraham's native land to find a wife for Isaac. ## "IN OLD LOUISIANA"

TO BE GIVEN FRIDAY

Proceeds From Musical Comedy to be Used in Purchasing High School Band Instruments

GLEE CLUBS TO PERFORM

Friday night at 8 p.m. will be given the musical comedy "In Old Louisiana," at the Graham Annex auditorium. This will represent the best work of the combined glee clubs of the Graham high school this year with the assistance of the high school orchestra.

Owing to the cost of production, they are giving this show just one night. The money taken in over and above expenses is to be used by the music department to pay for instruments to be purchased for the band and orchestra.

This fact alone should interest the people of Rushville, it is believed, at this time of the year when bands are going to be needed in the correct observance of the national holidays. The music director, D. S. McIntosh, believes there is no reason why the money should be spent outside of this city for band music when musicians of Rushville could produce a band better than any in the county or in neighboring counties with the backing of citizens of this city.

The formal dedication of the building will take place Wednesday afternoon at two o'clock, in charge of the grand lodge dedicatory staff, and in the evening there will be a class of forty candidates to be given the initiatory degree by the local staff.

GRAND JURY ACTION IN MRS. SHEPHERD'S CASE

Will be Started Wednesday on Basis of Coroner's Jury Verdict in McClinton Murder Inquiry

GUILTY KNOWLEDGE, CHARGE

Chicago, May 12—Grand jury action will be started tomorrow in the case of Mrs. Julie G. Shepherd, charged by a coroner's jury with having guilty knowledge of the alleged murder of Billy McClinton, "millionaire orphan" and his mother, Mrs. Emma McClinton, it was announced today.

State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe refused to reveal what he would recommend to the jury. It is known he is not in sympathy with the coroner's jury action against the woman. Crowe's activities will be confined to reading to the grand jury the testimony placed before the jury that indicted William Shepherd, the woman's husband in connection with Billy's death.

Chief Justice Harry Olson who investigated the entire investigation, said the state of Texas may be asked to take action in Mrs. McClinton's death. It was while Mrs. McClinton was in Texas with the Shepherds that she was taken ill. Her death occurred here.

The Illinois statute on the matter is held to be vague, Justice Olson said.

The coroner's jury recommended action against Shepherd and Mrs. Shepherd for the death of mother and son. Shepherd's trial for Billy's death is scheduled for May 18 and Crowe's attitude on Mrs. Shepherd's entrance is based on the belief that his task of prosecuting Shepherd will be made more difficult.

This fact alone should interest the people of Rushville, it is believed, at this time of the year when bands are going to be needed in the correct observance of the national holidays. The music director, D. S. McIntosh, believes there is no reason why the money should be spent outside of this city for band music when musicians of Rushville could produce a band better than any in the county or in neighboring counties with the backing of citizens of this city.

The first step in that direction is the encouraging of the high school boys in band work and helping them to the extent of supplying them with suitable instruments. The music department of the high school is trying to do this and is offering the chance to back music in this city, with the added attraction of a very pleasant entertainment.

AMUSEMENTS

Pola Negri at Princess
 It takes a real picture to come up to the standard of Pola Negri in Ernst Lubitsch's "Forbidden Paradise," but Miss Negri's latest for Paramount, "East of Suez," a Raoul Walsh production which is the feature at the Princess Theatre today, is just as gripping and entertaining a feature.

The screen play, written by Sada Cowan from Somerset Maugham's success, has all its background China—with all its romance and mystery and lurking perils.

The star is cast as a beautiful young English girl, daughter of a British Consular Agent living in Shanghai. Daisy (Miss Negri) has been away at school in England since she was eight years old. In all this time she has not seen her father. She returns only to be greeted of the news of his death and, what is probably more heartrending, that she is the daughter of English and Chinese parents—a half-caste, which is but another way of saying a social outcast.

Mademoiselle Midnight

With languorous and beautiful Mexico as a background and a thrilling story of love and intrigue set in it like a jewel, Mae Murray is said to have the best role of her career in "Mademoiselle Midnight," her latest picture, which is at the Castle theatre again today.

In "Mademoiselle Midnight" Miss Murray plays two character roles—that of a French lady in the court of Napoleon III, and that of a daughter of Mexico, a señorita famed for beauty, wealth and cleverness.

The story is about a girl who is afflicted with a curious midnight madness, which comes at unexpected moments. Renée de Quirós is the sheltered daughter of Don Pedro de Quirós, who owns a vast cattle ranch in Mexico. She has inherited her peculiar malady from her grandmother a lady in the French court of the Second Empire.

Extra Motor Power with General Cords Explained

Coasting and Running Tests Show Amazing Difference Between Tires

The marked effect different makes of tires have on motor power was shown in General's recent announcements of coasting and running tests.

To understand the reason for the extra motor power demonstrated with the General Cord it must first be understood that all makes of tires absorb a certain amount of motor power. It is internal friction in tires that causes power loss. This varies tremendously according to the amount of internal friction in each.

This internal friction in tires uses up motor power in the same way that friction in the working parts of machinery acts as a drag against power.

Friction is overcome by lubrication. To prevent friction between metal parts a film of oil is used. In the same manner, rubber of the finest grade and in generous quantity is used in the General Cord to keep the cotton plies separated and each cord insulated.

Thus, by a process equivalent to lubrication, General has obtained greater freedom from internal friction, and this is the reason for the extra motor power with the General Cord in comparison with other makes of tires.

Longer Mileage and Low Pressure Due to Less Internal Friction

The extra motor power with the General Cord has an even bigger meaning than the gasoline saving and the longer life of your motor, for that same special feature of construction that accounts for the extra motor power also explains the longer tire mileage—General's greater freedom from internal friction.

Internal friction is the greatest known destroyer of tires. Friction always means wear. And the tire with the least internal friction is naturally the tire that shows the slowest wear, provided this advantage is gained, as it is in the General Cord, without reduction in the number and weight of plies essential to proper construction.

It was General's mastery of internal friction that enabled it to produce, five years ago, the first low-pressure tire ever placed on the market.

Just as today it has enabled General to produce the successful 6-ply balloon cord, to replace 4-ply balloons on all except the smaller cars—combining all balloon advantages with the right strength for the load, as well as reducing balloon puncture risk to a minimum.

The successful use of low pressure depends upon a construction that is able to withstand the heating-up and wearing effect of the increased bending and straining under low pressure.

This shows why General's leadership in low-pressure tires, not only in balloon sizes, but in all Regular sizes, goes hand-in-hand with General's greater freedom from internal friction. It shows also why General has never classified its Regular size cords as "high-pressure" tires.

General Shows How Internal Friction Is Overcome

The process of complete insulation in the General Cord goes beyond the commonly used method of passing cord fabric through a thin solution of gum dissolved in benzol. General's special process, which can only be accomplished by putting the cord plies through large steel calender rollers, gives every ply a heavy coating of finest rubber, uniformly thick, forced between the cords so that each cord is completely surrounded and no two cords can touch. Other important factors in General's friction-eliminating process are the special weave and highest quality of combed cotton, as well as the development of new principles of tire construction throughout.

General Cord Users Enjoyed Low Pressure Before Balloons

General Cord users did not have to wait for balloons in order to enjoy low air pressure.

With experience in low-pressure construction dating back beyond that of any other manufacturer, low pressure in Regular size General Cords had become a well-known feature long before the advent of balloon tires.

In fact, the history of General's development of low pressure is the story of the evolution of the balloon tire.

This is the background that explains General's singular success with low pressure, first with Regular size cords and then with 4-ply and 6-ply balloons.

6-Ply Balloon

General's 4-ply Balloon is the practical equipment for the smaller cars. For the heavier cars the 6-ply Balloon has greater thickness to carry the load and still allows the full flexing action over obstructions. At the same time it reduces balloon puncture risk to a minimum.

General's 6-ply Balloon consumes no more power than the average 4-ply balloon because General's greater freedom from internal friction always means power and gasoline saving. Back of the 6-ply General Balloon is the long-standing experience that has been responsible for General's singular success with low pressure—in all Regular sizes as well as Balloon Cords, both 4-ply and 6-ply.

Come in and talk with us. We will be glad to explain fully the advantages of the 6-ply General Balloon and discuss with you the proper equipment for your car.

LOW PRESSURE WITH REGULAR SIZE TIRES

Hundreds of thousands of car owners are enjoying the advantages of low pressure without having changed their wheel equipment—they are using General's low-pressure Regular Size Cords.

It was back in 1919 that General produced the first low-pressure tire ever put on the market—the General Jumbo 30 x 3½ Cord requiring only 30 pounds of air. This is the sixth year of low pressure in the General Cord and only such long-standing specialization can explain General's singular success with it in all Regular Size General Cords as well as the Balloons, both 4-ply and 6-ply.

Come in and talk with us. We will gladly demonstrate the low-pressure advantages of the General Cord for your car.

Better Homes Week

This is Better Homes Week—a comparatively new one. It is sponsored by Better Homes in America, Inc., which was organized in 1922, and grew so rapidly in size within a year, and its influence and importance became so great, the organization was placed on a national basis.

The organization has been separated from all private connections and is now being supported entirely by public gifts. It is described as purely an educational movement. Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce, is its president.

The major aim of Better Homes in America may be described as the endeavor to help all American families, but particularly those of modest income, to make their homes through educational publications, more convenient, attractive and wholesome. This is undertaken Better Homes demonstrations, held each year during a period in May selected as "Better Homes Week," and by research. In all these undertakings, Better Homes in America cooperates with other civic and educational agencies which have common interests and similar aims.

America has justly been called a home-loving nation. Like the church and the school, the home is recognized as one of the most fundamental of our human institutions. And like the church and the school, the home is affected by changing conditions. Organization is necessary to safeguard the home and insure for all its highest values.

President Coolidge, in accepting the post of chairman of the Advisory Council of Better Homes in America, wrote to Mr. Hoover: "The American home is the foundation of national and individual well-being. Its steady improvement is, at the same time, a test of our civil-

The Better Homes in America movement provides a channel through which men and women in each community can encourage the building, ornamenting and owning of private homes by the people at large. No Proxies Wanted

No concrete plan as a basis for discussion of the debt settlement question with France has yet been reached.

After reaching a basis for discussion, there would be tedious and long drawn-out conversations between representatives of the two countries.

At best, the French war debt dispute seems no nearer settlement than it did immediately after the war ended.

The French, we are told, want to find a formula that will reconcile the wide difference between public opinion on the question in France and this country.

The method of liquidation most favored in France is to make payments contingent upon the amounts received from Germany.

This is manifestly not in harmony with American thought on the subject. The United States intends to hold France strictly accountable for its war debt.

Shouldering the responsibility for payment off onto the shoulders of a German government, even as fickle as the French, would be a feeble attempt to collect by proxy that would end disastrously for this country.

WASHINGTON—What are the chances that some reckless scientist will press a button or pull a lever one of these days and blow the whole universe to bits?

Atoms are supposed to be energy. Something like a teaspoonful of this stuff, released, would furnish power enough, according to the scientists, to drive the Leviathan across the Atlantic. Only it's hard to release.

However, experimenters are trying to do it all the time. Inasmuch as an atom is infinitely too small to see with the highest power microscope, it's difficult to tell how far they've succeeded, but two or three scientists believe they have chewed a very limited number of atoms all up—"disintegrated" them, as they say.

OBVIOUSLY the sudden, uncontrolled release of the energy contained in any considerable quantity of atoms, if they're as powerful as scientists assert, would stir things up to a marked extent.

Bottled and let out homeopathically, to drive the Leviathan from New York to Liverpool, it would be all right. But simply released unconditionally and allowed to fly all over—my! In fact, they speak at the government bureau of standards of the "explosion" of atoms.

If a teaspoonful would kick the 5,000-ton steamship Leviathan 3000 miles, what would a quart or a gallon or a barrelful do!

BESIDES, there's a theory that the "explosion" of only one atom, under proper—or maybe it would be more appropriate to say improper—conditions, might set off all the rest—the entire universe of them—just as the explosion of one grain of powder in a kegful explodes all the other grains, too.

Indeed, there's scientific author-

Where is Baseball Scandal?

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, May 12—So completely does the source of a certain lot of excitement last fall seem to have been forgotten that a casual reference to it might bring the question—"What scandal?"

There was a baseball scandal last fall that looked so bad that Ban Johnson, president of the American League, wanted the world's series called off unless the New York Giants were declared ineligible as the representatives of the National League.

For the benefit of those who did not hear of the scandal, a brief history of it will be repeated.

Heinie Sand, a shortstop for the Philadelphia Nationals, went to his manager and told him that Jimmy O'Connell, an outfielder from the Pacific Coast, who had cost the New York Giants $75,000, had approached him and told him that there was $500 in it for him if he wouldn't "bear down."

There were only two more games to be played and the Giants needed one to clinch the National League pennant and get into the world's series.

Sand's manager told John Heydler, president of the National League, and Heydler told Keneau Mountain Landis, commissioner of baseball. Landis grabbed a train for New York and called O'Connell on the carpet. O'Connell told him that Cozy Dolan, one of the giant coaches, told him to do it and he obeyed orders of his superior.

O'Connell said also that Frank Frisch, captain of the team, Ross Young, outfielder and George Kelly, first baseman knew what he had been asked to do and told him to go ahead.

Landis gave O'Connell and Dolan Young and Kelly. Dolan couldn't remember a thing. Frisch said that a lot of kidding always was going on around a pennant-contending club.

Heinie Sand, who turned in the squawk that uncovered the attempted bribery, was cheered generously at all the Eastern stops.

Apparently the "scandal" is dead and buried.

The attitude of the club owner is that fans have short memories and that those who do peer into the dark corners of the closet once in a while are the "Well, what if it?" kind.

The Giants have been razed about it in Brooklyn, but it is purely partisanship that makes the Brooklyn fans ride the Giants about anything.

Heinie Sand, who turned in the squawk that uncovered the attempted bribery, was cheered generously at all the Eastern stops.

Mr. and Mrs. James Cassidy entertained today at high noon with a dinner party at their home just west of the city. The guests included Dr. and Mrs. J. V. Cassidy of South Bend, Ind., Walter Day of Indianapolis and Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Morgan of this city.

Mrs. Ida McKee entertained with a prettily appointed dinner party Sunday in honor of Mrs. Lena McKee of Indianapolis. Covers were laid for the honored guest and Miss Bertha Clow, June Cagwin, Helen Bigelow, Wanda Susemichel, and Lois MacCalmon, all of Indianapolis. Each of the guests gave Mrs. McKee a beautiful rose in memory of "Mother's Day."

Twenty-four members of the Young Ladies' Mission Circle of the St. Paul's M. E. church and several visitors met at the home of Miss Laurette Abercrombie and heard Miss Cora Fales of Sironcha, India, lecture. Miss Fales is the "Standard Bearers" own Missionary, as her work is supported by organizations similar to this one. "The Devotion Over the Teacups" as conducted by Mrs. Sexton and five of the members, was very interesting and impressive. The local Circle pledged two scholarships to the work being carried on by Miss Fales in India.

The Busy Bee Club of Orange township met Friday, May 8th, with Mrs. Cole, the leader. Several girls were made full members of the club. The meeting was called to order by the leader and the rules and books were given out. The last few minutes of the meeting were devoted to a program which is to be given later. Those who were present were Mary Hewitt, Lucile Rogers, Grace Helen Major, Lillian Rogers and Ruth Hewitt. Mrs. Harry Gosnell, Mrs. G. Marsh, Mrs. Jessie Hungerford and Florine Major. There are now ten members in the club and they are making an attempt to increase this number.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bell entertained with a lovely dinner party Sunday at their home north east of the city, honoring their son and wife Mr. and Mrs. Russell Bell, who were united in marriage last Friday evening in Lewisville. Mrs. Bell was formerly Miss Virginia Haydon of this city.

The appointments for the table were beautiful, pink and white being the predominating color scheme. A large bouquet of bridal wreaths and pink roses formed the centerpiece and a large white tulip bow marked the coyer for the bride. The elaborate dinner was served in four courses. The guests included Mr. and Mrs. Hillary Haydon and daughter Martha, Mrs. E. S. Carter of Columbus, Ind., Mrs. Ed Chambers, Miss Margaret Bell, Mr. and Mrs. Will Fendner and Glen Ruddell and Walter Sharp.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cheek entertained Sunday at their home, 632 West Sixth street, with a pitch-in dinner honoring the seventy-ninth birthday of her mother, Mrs. Rebecca Lochridge of Greensburg. The guests present were Mr. and Mrs. James Clouser and daughter Mary, Mr. and Mrs. James York and children Dessie and Dannie, all of Marion, Indiana. A GOOD appetite means a cheerful disposition. You may have a good appetite if the blood that goes constantly to your vital organs is pure. S.S.S. purifies the blood—a good appetite follows and you will have a clear complexion and will be strong, cheerful and healthy. Don't go on feeling up one day and down the next—hardly sick but never well—losing "pep," punch and ambition. Hearty eaters are the red-blooded men and women. Enjoy your food! Get back your strength and energy! Reclaim yourself before it is too late! People in a physically run-down condition are an easy prey to disease.

S.S.S. is what is needed. Your blood needs purifying. Your blood-cells supply the energy which keeps your body well and fit. S.S.S. aids Nature in supplying new red-blood-cells—the spark that renews your system. Carefully selected, scientifically proportioned and prepared herbs and barks make up S.S.S.—the great blood purifier which gives Nature a helping hand.

Get back the lost appetite, the missing vitality, the keen, sparkling eyes, that look of determination. S.S.S. will give you more energy, vitality and vigor and a more up and going appearance.

Princeton, Ind., May 12—The globe trotting career of Wilbur Unthank, 10, and his sister Emily, 7 ended today.

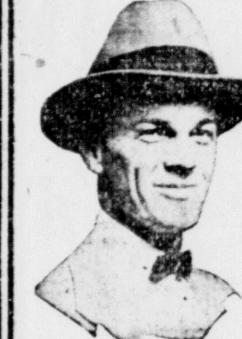

All Princeton became excited over the disappearance of the children yesterday afternoon. It was feared they had been kidnapped. Over one hundred and fifty men scoured the country and it was a detachment of these who found the boy and girl in a field four and one-half miles from here. They were glad to return home with their father, Alzie Unthank.

100 FROM HERE IN PARADE OF KNIGHTS

Rushville Commandery Well Represented at Annual State Conclave Opening in Indianapolis

SHOWING FOR W. M. SPARKS

Local Man Will Become Vice Commander This Week and Following Year Will be Commander

(By United Press)

Indianapolis Ind., May 12—Down town streets of Indianapolis were again decked today for the annual parade of the state commandery of the Knights Templar of Indiana.

Two thousand plumed knights were expected to participate in the colorful event with William H. Kerschner, adjutant general of the Indiana national guard, as grand marshal.

Prizes will be awarded to the three best teams in competitive drills following the parade.

The state conclave will be in session until Thursday.

Approximately one hundred members of Rushville commandery went to Indianapolis today to attend the annual state conclave of the Knights Templar and to participate in the parade which was scheduled to move at 1:30 o'clock.

The Rushville commandery was especially anxious to make a good showing on account of the commandery being represented among the grand officers by Will M. Sparks, who will be advanced to the office of vice grand commander at the conclave this week. Next year he will become grand commander.

The local commandery has twice won the attendance cup for the largest percent of membership present in uniform at the parade, and there was believed to be some chance of that cup being brought to Rushville this year.

The conclave began with banquets held in Indianapolis Monday evening. Judge Sparks attended a banquet of grand officers, at which a number of middlewest states were represented by Knights Templar grand officers. A banquet was also held Monday evening for past grand commanders.

Many Rushville Knights were accompanied by their wives, for whom special social functions have been arranged during the week. Wives of grand officers and past grand commanders were entertained with a dinner at the Propylaeum in Indianapolis Monday evening and Mrs. Demareus Brown spoke following the dinner. Wives and lady friends of Knights were entertained today at the Sevier hotel and Knights in uniform were guests at the luncheon at the Scottish Rite temple. There will be a dance and reception at the Murat temple this evening.

COMPANY DENIES IT HAS STEPHENSON'S PROPERTY

DAMAGE SUIT TRIAL DELAYED

Indianapolis, Ind., May 12—Denial that the Fidelity and Deposit Company of Maryland has any property of D. C. Stephenson in its possession, was made in an answer filed in Superior court today by the Maryland company.

The denial was in answer to an affidavit filed against the company by Mrs. Nettie Stephenson Brehm, former wife of Stephenson. She was seeking to tie up Stephenson's assets pending settlement of a suit for support money for their child.

The trial of the $125,000 damage suit brought in federal court against H. W. Evans, former imperial wizard of the klan, for the burning of Stephenson's yacht at Toledo, Ohio, last summer, was postponed until May 19. The trial was to have started tomorrow.

Mrs. Brehm, who lives in Portage, Okla., has brought suit for $17,000 support money for their child and is seeking to prevent Stephenson from disposing of his assets before the case is settled.

DETECTIVES HAVE NO POWER

Members of Organization Can't Arrest Men for Law Violations

Indianapolis, Ind., May 12—Members of the Indiana Horse Thief Detective Association have no authority to make arrests for liquor law violations, according to a ruling of Judge Collins on file in criminal court today.

Collins discharged Philip Borenstein, held on a charge of operating a blind tiger. Borenstein had been arrested by members of the horse thief detective association.

Action of Judge Collins was in keeping with the ruling of Attorney General Gilliom last week that the detectives' power was limited to arrest of horse thieves.

THREE BOYS 16 YEARS OLD HELD FOR THEFT

HAD A STOLEN AUTOMOBILE

Three youths, all giving their ages as 16 and their homes in Toledo, O., are in jail here awaiting the arrival of officers from that city, where they are wanted on charges of stealing an automobile.

The boys gave their names as Thomas Dunbar, Richard Stanton and Harley Bode. They were arrested late Monday at Mays by Sheriff Hunt, Police Chief Blackburn and Patrolman Smith of this city, who were killed by members of the Horse Thief Detective association of that community.

The trio drove into Mays Monday afternoon about three o'clock in a Paige roadster. They aroused suspicion when an attempt was made by them to buy gasoline, by wanting to pawn a gold watch. They were unable to give a good account of themselves and Prosecutor Ketchum was called, who in turn sent the officers after them.

A communication from Toledo officers this morning was received in which it stated that they would be taken back to that city for trial, and Sheriff Hunt is detaining them until their arrival.

DIVORCE AFTERMATH OF ALIENATION SUIT

CASE IS IN HIGHER COURT

A complaint for divorce was filed this morning in the circuit court by Lulu Catherine Holmes against Harley D. Holmes, in which the plaintiff alleges that they have not lived together since March, 1919, and during their married life he was guilty of cruel treatment.

They were married in January 1908, according to the suit, and have resided in recent years on the Elbert Buell farm in Anderson township. She charges her husband with having a high temper, making false accusations against her character, and possessing a high strung jealous disposition.

She asks the court for a divorce, and also for the custody of their 13-year old son, alleging that the husband is not a fit person to have the custody of the boy.

It will be recalled that last fall a jury in the local court heard an alienation of affections case for several days, in which Mr. Holmes was attempting to recover from Mr. Buell on whose farm they resided, charging that he had caused their separation. The jury failed to return a favorable verdict, and Mr. Holmes has the case now before a higher court in Indiana.

ROTARY CLUB OBSERVES MOTHERS' DAY MONDAY

The Rev. B. F. Cato Speaks of the Influence of Mother Upon The Home and Lives of Men

STRIKES RESPONSIVE CORD

The Rotary club observed Mothers' Day Monday at the regular weekly club luncheon at the Odd Fellow Temple with an address by the Rev. B. F. Cato, pastor of the Main Street Christian church, who spoke of the influence of mothers upon the home and the lives of men. The weekly luncheon was changed from Tuesday noon on account of so many Rotarians going to the Knights Templar luncheon in Indianapolis today.

"Home does not depend upon the size of the house or its furnishings," the minister said. "The foundation may be wood, brick or stone; the floors may be hardwood, pine, stone or beaten soil; the roof may be shingles, slab or slate, and the furnishings may be simple. Manhood has more to do with homes than money, womanhood than wardrobes. I venture to say that most of us came from homes much less pretentiously furnished than ones in which we live today."

He pointed out that mother was the soul of the home and that it was not surprising the day had taken like wildfire because, "when we speak of mother, it strikes a responsive chord in 99 out of 100 men."

"There are beautiful things in the world—an orchard in bloom, the sunshine on the hills, a valley of wild flowers, a fading sunset—but the most beautiful thing this side of heaven is a mother and her child."

CURTAIN UP ON NEW LODGE HOME

Odd Fellows Temple Thrown Open to Public This Afternoon for Inspection and Program

DEDICATION WEDNESDAY AT 2

Thursday Will be Rebekah Day, with Special Program Being Arranged For The Event

The curtain was run up this afternoon at three o'clock on the new Odd Fellows temple and the building was thrown open for the inspection of the public at a reception held by members of the order, which is a part of the dedicatory program taking place this week.

The formal dedication of the building will take place Wednesday afternoon at two o'clock, in charge of the grand lodge dedicatory staff, and in the evening there will be a class of forty candidates to be given the initiatory degree by the local staff.

Rebekah day will be observed Thursday in connection with the dedication week program, it was announced today, and a special program has been arranged for this occasion.

Negro spiritual singers will give a program in the lodge hall this evening as a part of the program at the reception and the Odd Fellows orchestra of twelve pieces will also play.

The first visitors in the building this afternoon found a modern lodge home, fully equipped with dining room and kitchen, social rooms, parlor, library and main lodge hall, which has been beautifully decorated and furnished.

The same plan was used as in the old hall with raised seats around the room and a stage at the west end, in the center of which is a large red velvet canopy. Flanking the canopy are two large paintings picturing Abraham leading his son Isaac to the mountain top to offer him as a sacrifice in accordance with God's command, which represents the encampment; and Rebekah at the well offering a drink to Eliezer, servant of Abraham, who had been sent back to Abraham's native land to find a wife for Isaac. This represents the Rebekah degree.

At the opposite end of the hall are large panel paintings representing the valley of the Jordan river and the Dead Sea. The paintings are by Louis Mueller of Indianapolis, who did the work at the old Odd Fellows

"IN OLD LOUISIANA" TO BE GIVEN FRIDAY

GLEE CLUBS TO PERFORM

Friday night at 8 p. m. will be given the musical comedy "In Old Louisiana," at the Graham Annex auditorium. This will represent the best work of the combined glee clubs of the Graham high school this year with the assistance of the high school orchestra.

Owing to the cost of production, they are giving this show just one night. The money taken in over and above expenses is to be used by the music department to pay for instruments to be purchased for the band and orchestra.

This fact alone should interest the people of Rushville, it is believed, at this time of the year when bands are going to be needed in the correct observance of the national holidays. The music director, D. S. McIntosh, believes there is no reason why the money should be spent outside of this city for band music when musicians of Rushville could produce a band better than any in the county or in neighboring counties with the backing of citizens of this city.

Rebekah day will be observed Thursday in connection with the dedication week program, it was announced today, and a special program has been arranged for this occasion.

The first step in that direction is the encouraging of the high school boys in band work and helping them to the extent of supplying them with suitable instruments. The music department of the high school is trying to do this and is offering the chance to have music in this city, with the added attraction of a very pleasant entertainment.

PATROLMEN ARE RESPONSIBLE

Must Explain if Liquor is Found in Their District in Indianapolis

(By United Press)

Indianapolis, Ind., May 12—The first definite step in his campaign to "clean up" the police department was taken today by Police Chief Rickoff at a meeting of the board of Rickoff announced that patrolmen will be held responsible if bootleggers are found in his district. Members of the liquor squad will be required to give the name of the patrolman in whose district liquor arrests are made and the patrolman will be held before the chief to explain why they did not make the arrests.

At the opposite end of the hall are large panel paintings representing the valley of the Jordan river and the Dead Sea. The paintings are by Louis Mueller of Indianapolis, who did the work at the old Odd Fellows

GENERAL FROST IS REPORTED

No Damage Done in Central Indiana According to Weather Bureau

Indianapolis, Ind., May 12—Another general frost throughout the central and northern parts of the state last night was reported to the local weather bureau today.

The frost was killing in St. Joseph county and did slight damage around Marion and Royal Center, according to the weather bureau.

Ice was reported at Angola and Wheatfield had a temperature of 22 degrees.

The frost extended as far south as Columbus, but did little damage in the central part of the state.

Likelihood of another frost tonight was predicted with the announcement of unsettled weather and rising temperature.

GRAND JURY ACTION IN MRS. SHEPHERD'S CASE

Will be Started Wednesday on Basis of Coroner's Jury Verdict in McClinton Murder Inquiry

GUILTY KNOWLEDGE, CHARGE

Chicago, May 12—Grand jury action will be started tomorrow in the case of Mrs. Julie G. Shepherd, charged by a coroner's jury with having guilty knowledge of the alleged murder of Billy McClinton, "millionaire orphan" and his mother, Mrs. Emma McClinton, it was announced today.

State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe refused to reveal what he would recommend to the jury. It is known he is not in sympathy with the coroner's jury action against the woman. Crowe's activities will be confined to reading to the grand jury the testimony placed before the jury that indicted William Shepherd, the woman's husband in connection with Billy's death.

Chief Justice Harry Olson who instigated the entire investigation, said the state of Texas may be asked to take action in Mrs. McClinton's death. It was while Mrs. McClinton was in Texas with the Shepherds that she was taken ill. Her death occurred here.

The Illinois statute on the matter is held to be vague, Justice Olson said.

The coroner's jury recommended action against Shepherd and Mrs. Shepherd for the death of mother and son. Shepherd's trial for Billy's death is scheduled for May 18 and Crowe's attitude on Mrs. Shepherd's entrance is based on the belief that his task of prosecuting Shepherd will be made more difficult.

VON HINDENBURG TAKES THE OATH OF OFFICE

Storm of Cheers and Cries of "Hoch" Burst From Audience as He Skars Fealty to People

FLAGS OF OLD EMPIRE FLY

(By United Press)

Berlin, May 12—Facing the Reichstag, where friends and enemies sat silent for a moment after the tumultuous roar that greeted him, Paul von Hindenburg, erstwhile field marshal of the imperial armies, today took the oath of office that made him president of the German republic.

I swear, rumble Hindenburg, in the gruff, deep voice known to his staff and soldiers in wartime, "to dedicate my power to the welfare of the German people, to augment their advantages, to shield them from misfortune to observe the constitution and laws, to perform my duty conscientiously and dispense even-handed justice."

"So help me God," he added, using the religious formula which was optional and which was omitted by the late President Ebert.

A storm of cheers and cries of "hoch" burst from the crowded galleries and was taken up by an immense throng of men and women outside the Reichstag building, held in check by innumerable police.

Flags of the old empire in red, white and black again today outnumbered those of the republicans as the inauguration took place.

AMUSEMENTS

Pola Negri at Princess
 It takes a real picture to come up to the standard of Pola Negri in Ernst Lubitsch's "Forbidden Paradise," but Miss Negri's latest for Paramount, "East of Suez," a Ronald Walsh production which is the feature at the Princess Theatre today, is just as gripping and enthralling a feature.

The screen play, written by Sada Cowan from Somerset Maugham's success, has for its background China—with all its romance and mystery and lurking perils.

The star is cast as a beautiful young English girl, daughter of a British Consular Agent living in Shanghai. Daisy (Miss Negri) has been away at school in England since she was eight years old. In all this time she has not seen her father. She returns only to be greeted by the news of his death and what is probably more heartrending, that she is the daughter of English and Chinese parents—a half-caste, which is but another way of saying a social outcast.

Mademoiselle Midnight

With languorous and beautiful Mexico as a background and a thrilling story of love and intrigue set in it like a jewel, Mae Murray is said to have the best role of her career in "Mademoiselle Midnight," her latest picture, which is at the Castle theatre again today.

In "Mademoiselle Midnight" Miss Murray plays two character roles—that of a French lady in the court of Napoleon III, and that of a daughter of Mexico, a senorita famed for beauty, wealth and cleverness.

The story is about a girl who is afflicted with a curious midnight madness; which comes at unexpected moments. Renée de Quirós is the sheltered daughter of Don Pedro de Quirós, who owns a vast cattle ranch in Mexico. She has inherited her peculiar malady from her grandmother, a lady in the French court of the Second Empire.

Extra Motor Power with General Cords Explained

Coasting and Running Tests Show Amazing Difference Between Tires

The marked effect different makes of tires have on motor power was shown in General's recent announcements of coasting and running tests.

To understand the reason for the extra motor power demonstrated with the General Cord it must first be understood that all makes of tires absorb a certain amount of motor power. It is internal friction in tires that causes power loss. This varies tremendously according to the amount of internal friction in each.

This internal friction in tires uses up motor power in the same way that friction in the working parts of machinery acts as a drag against power.

Friction is overcome by lubrication. To prevent friction between metal parts a film of oil is used. In the same manner, rubber of the finest grade and in generous quantity is used in the General Cord to keep the cotton plies separated and each cord insulated.

Thus, by a process equivalent to lubrication, General has obtained greater freedom from internal friction, and this is the reason for the extra motor power with the General Cord in comparison with other makes of tires.

Longer Mileage and Low Pressure Due to Less Internal Friction

The extra motor power with the General Cord has an even bigger meaning than the gasoline saving and the longer life of your motor, for that same special feature of construction that accounts for the extra motor power also explains the longer tire mileage—General's greater freedom from internal friction.

Internal friction is the greatest known destroyer of tires. Friction always means wear. And the tire with the least internal friction is naturally the tire that shows the slowest wear, provided this advantage is gained, as it is in the General Cord, without reduction in the number and weight of plies essential to proper construction.

It was General's mastery of internal friction that enabled it to produce, five years ago, the first low-pressure tire ever placed on the market.

Just as today it has enabled General to produce the successful 6-ply balloon cord, to replace 4-ply balloons on all except the smaller cars—combining all balloon advantages with the right strength for the load, as well as reducing balloon puncture risk to a minimum.

The successful use of low pressure depends upon a construction that is able to withstand the heating-up and wearing effect of the increased bending and straining under low pressure.

This shows why General's leadership in low-pressure tires, not only in balloon sizes, but in all Regular sizes, goes hand-in-hand with General's greater freedom from internal friction. It shows also why General has never classified its Regular size cords as "high-pressure" tires.

General Cord Users Enjoyed Low Pressure Before Balloons

General Cord users did not have to wait for balloons in order to enjoy low air pressure.

With experience in low-pressure construction dating back beyond that of any other manufacturer, low pressure in Regular size General Cords had become a well-known feature long before the advent of balloon tires.

In fact, the history of General's development of low pressure is the story of the evolution of the balloon tire.

This is the background that explains General's singular success with low pressure, first with Regular size cords and then with 4-ply and 6-ply balloons.

Low Pressure With Regular Size Tires

Hundreds of thousands of car owners are enjoying the advantages of low pressure without having changed their wheel equipment—they are using General's low-pressure Regular Size Cords.

It was back in 1919 that General produced the first low-pressure tire ever put on the market—the General Jumbo 30 x 3½ Cord requiring only 30 pounds of air. This is the sixth year of low pressure in the General Cord and only such long-standing specialization can explain General's singular success with it in all Regular Size General Cords as well as the Balloons, both 4-ply and 6-ply.

Come in and talk with us. We will gladly demonstrate the low-pressure advantages of the General Cord for your car.

6-Ply Balloon

General's 4-ply Balloon is the practical equipment for the smaller cars. For the heavier cars the 6-ply Balloon has greater thickness to carry the load and still allows the full flexing action over obstructions. At the same time it reduces balloon puncture risk to a minimum.

General's 6-ply Balloon consumes no more power than the average 4-ply balloon because General's greater freedom from internal friction always means power and gasoline saving. Back of the 6-ply General Balloon is the long-standing experience that has been responsible for General's singular success with low pressure—in all Regular sizes as well as Balloon Cords, both 4-ply and 6-ply.

Come in and talk with us. We will be glad to explain fully the advantages of the 6-ply General Balloon and discuss with you the proper equipment for your car.

Where is Baselli's Scandal?

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, May 12.—So completely does the source of a certain lot of excitement last fall seem to have been forgotten that a casual reference to it might bring the question—“What scandal?”

There was a baseball scandal last fall that looked so bad that Ban Johnson, president of the American League, wanted the world’s series called off unless the New York Giants were declared ineligible as the representatives of the National League.

For the benefit of those who did not hear of the scandal, a brief history of it will be repeated.

Heine Sand, a shortstop for the Philadelphia Nationals, went to his manager and told him that Jimmy O’Connell, an outfielder from the Pacific Coast, who had cost the New York Giants $75,000, had approached him and told him that there was $500 in it for him if he wouldn’t “bear down.”

There were only two more games to be played and the Giants needed one to clinch the National League pennant and get into the world’s series.

Sand’s manager told John Heydler, president of the National League, and Heydler told Kuehne, Mountain Landis, commissioner of baseball. Landis grabbed a train for New York and called O’Connell on the carpet. O’Connell told him that Cozy Dolan, one of the giant coaches, told him to do it and he obeyed orders of his superior.

O’Connell said also that Frank Frisch, captain of the team, Ross Young, outfielder and George Kelly, first baseman knew what he had been asked to do and told him to go ahead.

Landis gave O’Connell and Dolan Young and Kelly. Dolan couldn’t remember a thing. Frisch said that a lot of kidding always was going on around a pennant-contending club.

Apparently the “scandal” is dead and buried.

Young and Kelly said they didn’t know anything about it.

Ludis gave O’Connell and Dolan the air and was absolved. Frisch, Young and Kelly, and ordered “On with the world’s series. Let Ban Johnson keep his shirt on.”

Finally the transcript of the testimony was given to the newspapers and a demand was made for an investigation by the New York district attorney’s office. Landis turned over the evidence with an opinion that it wouldn’t hold in any court.

The district attorney investigated. All of the players involved, with the exception of O’Connell, appeared for examination. O’Connell refused to place himself within the jurisdiction of a New York court unless he was granted immunity. He didn’t get it and he didn’t show up.

The district attorney reported that he would not ask the grand jury for an indictment unless the commissioner wanted him to do it. The commissioner said he would consider it. The commissioner also said that the case never would be closed as long as any of the players involved was alive.

The scandal apparently died there. Nothing has been heard of it since then from official quarters. Dolan and O’Connell apparently have accepted their fate and are saying nothing. Frisch, Young and Kelly are playing with a team that is dashing for another National League pennant. Landis is visiting ball parks and playing golf. The club owners want to know “What scandal?” when you tell them about it.

The attitude of the club owner is that fans have short memories and that those who do peer into the dark corners of the closet once in a while are the “Well, what of it?” kind.

The Giants have been razed about it in Brooklyn, but it is purely partisanship that makes the Brooklyn fans ride the Giants about anything.

Heine Sand, who turned in the squawk that uncovered the attempted bribery, was cheered generously at all the Eastern stops.
